OUR GOVERNMENT
A PATCHWORK.

Our pioneer mothers made patchwork quilts. They were formed with little regard for harmony in color or material. Our government is a patchwork of States very similar to the old time quilt. No two States are alike. No two have the same laws. The result is friction between the States and the Federal Government. The National Government is losing east with the civilized countries of the world because of its inability to carry out in good faith treaties that are made. We have a treaty with Japan by which the natives of Japan that come to this country are not to be discriminated against. Only a few years ago in California (San Francisco), Japanese children were debarred from the public schools.

This was in direct conflict with the treaty, but our government was helpless. The government had no control over the schools of California and it was only by wise diplomacy on the part of the representatives of the two countries that trouble was averted. Only last week in Texas a Mexican was burned alive. We have reciprocal relations with Mexico, but there is no way by which our government can bring to justice the perpetrators of the crime. It rests entirely with the State of Texas. This crime in Texas caused retaliation over the border by Mexicans against Americans. These Americans may or may not have been citizens of Texas. This weakness of our government should be remedied in some way. If it is not done it is liable to involve us in a foreign war at any time.

The right of citizenship is denied to one-half of our people, and the best half. The vilest criminal out of jail, if it is a man, can vote. The best woman cannot vote.

Governor Hadley before the great Labor Convention in St. Louis said that one-third of the judges and one-half of the lawyers of country were unnecessary to the best welfare of the people.

We cannot think of disputing the word of a Governor.

In Fleming county, F. H. McCartney, Republican, was elected County Judge over C. B. Morford, Democrat.

ALL ABOARD FOR TURKEY

on Thanksgiving. By the way are there any places on your poultry house or barn which will allow your birds to get out or some night prowler to get in? Why not have us send you lumber enough to make them secure? Don't wait 'till your Thanksgiving dinner is stolen. Do it now.

While in the other races, the county went Democratic. Mr. Morford speaks well of his successful opponent, but is sour on the Democrats that defeated him. He says:

"To the contemptible mugwumps and unprincipled liars who stabbed me at the sacrifice of their own party, I will say that I am longing for the time to come when I can go after you good and hard—take notice."

Our waste basket is being well filled with copy furnished from New Orleans and San Francisco, contending cities for an exposition that is proposed to be held in 1915, to celebrate the completion of the Panama Canal.

The football season closes Thanksgiving. It closed earlier with the players that have been killed.

There is one advantage in the hobble skirt. Women take up less room.

The Golden Rule is of little value to any of us, without there is in our hearts a disposition to carry it out.

We all have burdens to bear. We have many disappointments. Our sorrows may be great. We never entirely get over our troubles, but correct living and a consciousness of doing no wrong is a panacea.

CALLED TO LOUISVILLE.

Mr. Woodson McCord, Chief of Police, was called to Louisville Wednesday afternoon on business. He will return Thursday night.

EASILY BREAKS
A SEVERE COLD

In Just a Few Hours All Misery From a Bad Cold or the Grippe Will Be Overcome.

Pape's Cold Compound is the result of three years' research at a cost of more than fifty thousand dollars, and contains no quinine, which we have conclusively demonstrated is not effective in the treatment of colds or grippe.

It is a positive fact that a dose of Pape's Cold Compound, taken every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken, will end the Grippe and break up the most severe cold, either in the head, chest, back, stomach, limbs or any part of the body.

It promptly relieves the most miserable neuralgia pains, headache, dullness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, sore throat, running of the nose, mucous catarrhal discharges, soreness, stiffness and rheumatic twinges.

Take this harmless Compound as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine, made anywhere else in the world, which will cure your cold or end Grippe misery as promptly and without any other assistance or bad after-effects, as a 25-cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist in the world can supply.

Lesson VIII.—Fourth Quarter, For
Nov. 20, 1910.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Matt. xxvi, 36-56.
Memory Verses, 38, 39—Golden Text,
Matt. xxvi, 45—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

It may have been, as some think, not far from midnight when Jesus went forth with His disciples over the brook Kedron on His way to Gethsemane. We think of another night which in some small measure foreshadowed this one, when the king of Israel fled for his life across this same brook, accompanied by a few faithful followers, because of the rebellion of his son Absalom. In our lesson we see the true King of Israel about to be put to death by His firstborn (Ex. iv, 22) and about to enter into an agony the like of which was never before seen by men or angels on this earth. Possibly He had spoken the words of John xv and xvi on His way to the garden and had prayed the prayer of chapter xvii after reaching the garden. Of this we cannot be certain. But now He leaves the eight disciples somewhere in the garden, and taking Peter and James and John, He was withdrawn from the others about a stone's cast and began to be sorrowful and very heavy, saying unto them, "My soul is exceeding sorrowful even unto death; tarry ye here and watch with Me." Then, leaving the three, He went a little farther and knelt down and fell on His face on the ground and prayed the prayer of verse 39. Luke says that an angel from heaven appeared to Him and strengthened Him, and, being in an agony, He prayed more earnestly, and His sweat was as it were great drops of blood falling down to the ground. He came to the disciples and found them asleep and said to Peter, "What could ye not watch with Me one hour?" Watch and pray (verses 40, 41). He went away the second time and prayed the same prayer. Then He came again to them and found them asleep again and went away the third time and prayed the same words. Then He came the third time to His disciples and said unto them, "Sleep on now and take your rest; behold, the hour is at hand, and the Son of Man is betrayed into the hands of sinners." Luke xxii, 45, 46, looks as if when He returned to the eight He found them asleep also and said to them: "Why sleep ye? Rise and pray lest ye enter into temptation." We can read it and write it and meditate upon it, but who can understand it?

What was the cup from which He asked if possible to be delivered and yet in the drinking of which He submitted wholly to the Father's will? Was it the same cup as that of John xviii, 11, concerning which He said, "The cup which My Father hath given me, shall I not drink it?" It looks as if the devil did not know what he was doing when he killed the Lord Jesus, for it is written in Heb. ii, 12, that Jesus took a body of flesh and blood that through death He might destroy him that had the power of death—that is, the devil. We know that he tried to kill him at His birth, and possibly he tried to drown Him in that storm on the sea. Perhaps he thought that if he could kill Him before he reached the cross he would frustrate the whole plan of redemption. If that be so and we can consider Gethsemane as the devil's attempt to kill Him in the garden, then the Saviour's prayer may have been a prayer that He might not die in the garden and leave His great work unfinished, but that He might have victory in the garden and go on to Golgotha and finish His work of atonement for sin. That would explain the reason why an angel strengthened Him. If we are right in this supposition, then His willingness to die in the garden, if His Father should so will it, and leave His work unfinished in very sight of the goal is the greatest instance of submission on record. To be willing not to succeed with success in sight—who ever heard of such a thing?

But the cup of dying in the garden passed from Him, and he was strengthened supernaturally and went on gladly to drink the cup which His Father had prepared for Him. In that light listen to Heb. v, 7, "Who in the days of His flesh, when He had offered up prayers and supplications, with strong crying and tears, unto Him that was able to save Him from death and was heard in that He feared." In I John v, 15, it is written, "If we know that He hear us whatsoever we ask we know that we have the petitions that we desired of Him." He prayed to Him who was able to save Him from death, and He was heard; therefore He was saved from death in the garden in order that He might finish His work of atonement by dying on the cross for our sins. If these thoughts are wrong may the Lord forgive us for daring to tolerate them, but if they are of Him may He bless them and grant us victory to do His will and perfect submission to it. Now see the agent of the devil daring to kiss our Lord, and behold our Lord submitting to it knowing him to be who and what he was. Simon Peter would have done better without a sword, but how many blunders of his and ours has our blessed Lord remedied! Are we helping people to hear, or are we by inconsistencies hindering them from hearing?

WAS ENGAGED TO BATTLING NELSON

Little Fighter Claims That Wife of Titled Husband Was Once His Own Fiancee.

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—The amazing development Wednesday in the tangled romance of Irma Kilgallen de Beaufort and her titled husband was the declaration of "Battling" Nelson the former light-weight prize fighting champion, that he was at one time engaged to the young woman. The Battler forwarded this overdue society item by wire from San Francisco where he is training.

"Irma engaged to Battling Nelson!" exclaimed Mr. Kilgallen. "Impossible! I don't believe she knew him. I will not discuss it."

Investigation Wednesday showed that in 1908 Miss Kilgallen met the little fighter in Hegewisch, the Chicago suburb which he calls home. The young woman was visiting a school-girl friend there at the time. Miss Kilgallen was of athletic turn and interested in athletic men. She made several automobile trips to Hegewisch, and saw Nelson each time. To break the attachment it was decided to send Miss Kilgallen to London, and she departed early in 1909. In London she was under the protection of Mrs. Danrosch, an American widow. She had an allowance of $300 a month and was soon marked in the fashionable tearooms as an American heiress. Battling Nelson and Hegewisch were forgotten from the spring day she was introduced to the Count de Beaufort in the tearoom of the Hotel Cecil. Mrs. Kilgallen read between the lines of her daughter's letters in which she spoke of the young man with the continental title. The mother hurried to London and investigated the Count, finally consenting to the marriage.
